The crowd shifts their attention to the door. Light shines onto Naomi, who stands in the doorway. She shifts her weight between her feet.

The crowd goes silent.

Naomi has, crudely, sewn Ashley's face onto her's. Blood runs down the sides of her face, her dress is covered in blood. She gives the crowd a smile, it further distorts the mask.

Realization sets into the crowd. Someone screams and the sets the rest of the crowd off.

The light still shines on Naomi, she stumbles back. Through a smile she lets out a sob and from the sob comes a laugh. Prom queen by proxy.
